

The little princess. What a joy it is to have her sing a couple songs with us. Cooper is the sharpest one in the group. She is always telling me of my mistakes!

Pray For America!! Pray for fellow born again Christians to light a fire underneath our lazy behinds and get the light of the Saviour out there, in many and various ways, directed by the Holy Spirit of course.

Moving right along, at least that's what Dana did! Please pray for him! Relocating to Choteau and beginning a new job has been part of his journeying lately. We have met once this January for a Whitefish morning worship service with Bro. Gene Spear. We had a great time! Chinese food afterward was belly-warming as well.

Please believe us we are still working on our new album! We miss our buddy and oh so proficient sound technician who is suffering in Florida... Actually, we pray he is not suffering, he had hip surgery a few months ago. That certainly does not excuse the rest of the group from preparing and being ready when he gets back... ahem! The album will be hymns, and a few surprises we are VERY excited about!!

The Milnes have had a very interesting first few weeks of 2009. I learned a great lesson which I was able to apply to how my witness for the Lord appears to others. Truly we want folks to "like us" and enjoy our presence. If we are seen in a grocery store do people run down a different isle to get away from us because we are so bizarre in talking about the Gospel ALL the time? Our witness should be just like the Saviours. I really don't think He cared what other people thought, but most of the time He was so contagious! The wisdom just oozed right out of Him! Those who truly decided to follow Him were in for a journey of a lifetime. People flocked to Him for advice! He never used His Infinite knowledge to deceive or twist people to believe Him, it was always their choice. He never went behind people's backs and spoke negatively about- "these sinners". And those around Him couldn't get away with back biting thoughts. Oh, He spoke negatively, right in the face of the political leaders of the day, called them pretty exciting names, if I remember! Can you imagine our "meek and mild" Saviour throwing tables in the "quiet" temple. Now He had authority! His pure LIFE gave them cause to draw near. Truly our Saviour ALWAYS had appropriate behavior, so should we. Politics and a betrayal from within saw His preaching, and example, for the time being, ended.

I guess what I'm saying is that we have the truth, and can understand all things. PROVERBS 28:5, I JOHN 3:18-24 As we take the facts about our eternal destiny and joy overflowing "out there" we should always be in balance. So sometimes I get so thrilled about what the Lord does in our lives I get pretty animated- crazy like. I have no problem emulating the verse that calls us a peculiar people!! So desiring to be always in balance... I can't swing too far either way, I'll fall over. I'd like to be intriguing, not a wacky weirdo. Peter ran across a Daily Bread devotion that says it way better than I just did!!

Hope to see you soon,
Glenda
